Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

Invention I, claims 1-41, drawn to a random number generator based on the phase difference between the two input signals to a flip-flop, classified in class 708, subclass 251.

Invention II, claims 42-52, drawn to a circuit for verifying the output from a random number generator, classified in class 702, subclass 181. Invention II further contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Species 1, claims 42,43 and 49-52, drawn to a circuit for verifying the output from a random number generator corresponding to figures 55 and 56.

Species 2, claims 44-46, drawn to a circuit for verifying the output from a random number generator corresponding to figures 57-59.

Species 3, claims 47 and 48, drawn to a circuit for verifying the output from a random number generator corresponding to figure 60.

2. The inventions I and II are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination (invention I) does not require the particular circuit for verifying the output from a random number generator of the subcombination (invention II) as claimed for patentability because claims to both the combination and subcombination are presented and assumed to be patentable. The omission of the specific details of the circuit for verifying the output from a random number generator of the subcombination in the independent claims of the combination is an evidence that the combination does not rely on the details of the specific subcombination (II), for patentability. In addition, the subcombination (I) clearly has a separate utility as to verify randomness. Therefore, the inventions I and II are clearly distinct, and because they acquired a separate status in the art as their different classification, and the search require of Group I does not required for Group II, the restriction for examination purposes as indicated is thus proper.

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

4. In the event that Invention II is elected, applicant is further required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

5. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

7. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Chuong D. Ngo whose telephone number is (571) 272-3731. The examiner can normally be reached on Tuesday-Friday.
